21 There are 300 seeds in a packet of flower seeds.
Each seed will grow into a white flower or a yellow flower or a red flower.

The probability of a seed growing into a white flower is 0.62
45 of the seeds are expected to grow into yellow flowers.

One of the seeds is chosen at random from the packet.

What is the probability that this seed will grow into a red flower?

.....

(Total for Questions 21 is 3 marks)